OPTIVER EUROPE PRIVACY POLICY & DISCLAIMER

This policy describes what Optiver Group¹ does with personal information we collect from you and the ways in which Optiver Group may collect that information.

Optiver Group may collect information from you through your use of our website.

By using our website and by providing us with any personal information, you are consenting to the use of your personal information as set out in this policy. Please do not send us any personal information if you do not want your personal information to be used in this way.

Information collected through our website

A number of facilities on our website invite you to provide us with personal information, for example, the vacancy application facility in the "Working at Optiver" section of our website. The purpose of these facilities is apparent at the point that you provide your personal information and we only use your information for those purposes.

What we use your personal information for

We use your personal information:

- ▶ To provide and improve this website.
- ▶ To compile anonymous statistics, for example, website usage statistics.
- ▶ To market our services.
- ▶ To manage our relationships.
- ▶ To fulfil our legal obligations.
- ▶ For the purposes of recruitment.
- ▶ For other legitimate business purposes.

We apply the highest standard of security when it comes to hosting and protecting information.

We do not sell, rent, distribute or otherwise make personal information commercially available to any third party, except as described in this policy or with your prior permission.

Sharing information across our offices

Any information that you provide to us may be shared with and processed by any entity in the Optiver Group. This may entail a transfer of your information from a location within the European Economic Area (the "EEA") to outside the EEA, or from outside the EEA to a location within the EEA. The level of information protection in countries outside the EEA may be less than that offered within the EEA, however we have procedures in place to ensure the protection of your information as much as possible.

Transferring information when there is a change to our business

If in the future we re-organise or transfer all or part of our business we may need to transfer your information to new entities in the Optiver Group or to third parties through which the business of Optiver Group will be carried out.

Electronic communications

Information that you send to us in electronic form may not be secure and not be treated as confidential.

Legal Requirements

While it is unlikely, we may be required to disclose your information to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. We will use reasonable endeavours to notify you before we do this, unless we are legally restricted from doing so.

Your rights

Under applicable data protection legislation we must ensure that your personal information is accurate and up to date. Therefore, please advise us of any changes to your information.

You are entitled to request details of the information we hold about you and to have it rectified or deleted as required by applicable data protection legislation. For more information please send an email to info@optiver.com.

DISCLAIMER

The following terms and conditions apply to the use of the website www.optiver.com. By using our website and using the information provided on it, the user accepts the following conditions. If the user does not accept these conditions, he or she should not use our website.

Legal Disclaimer

The information on our website is for general informational purposes only and does not constitute an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any security or any financial instrument or to provide any investment advice in any jurisdiction. Optiver is not providing specific investment advice to any individual viewing the content of our website and does not represent that the securities or services described herein are suitable for any specific investor. Investors are advised not to rely on any information contained on our website in the process of making a fully informed investment decision. Optiver expressly disclaims all liability in respect to actions taken based on any or all of the information on our website.

Optiver is authorized at all times to amend, modify or discontinue the operation of our website and the information and details on our website (including this disclaimer) without prior notification. It is therefore advisable to review this disclaimer and any other notices on our website on a regular basis so that you are aware of any such amendments or modifications.

Cookies

This Website uses Google analytic cookies. These cookies help Optiver improving its website. By continuing to use our website the user consents to the use of these cookies.

(Intellectual) Property and use of our website

Users of our website are permitted to store, analyse, print, download and copy the data and/or information on our website for personal use and non-commercial purposes only. Information on our website may not be distributed, published, transferred, reproduced or made available to third parties in any other way without Optiver's express written consent. No licensing rights or rights of use of any kind (except for as described above) are granted to the user of our website. Optiver retains all rights (including all registered property rights as well as the rights to all non-registered brands, copyright, texts, graphic material, design and logos) in relation to the information presented on our website. Links to our website are not permitted without Optiver's prior written consent.

Links

This Website provides links to other websites maintained by third parties. The inclusion of any such link does not imply any type of endorsement by Optiver of any material contained on any linked site. Optiver has no control over the linked sites and Optiver does not provide any guarantee concerning the content of those sites and is not responsible or liable for any content, information or other materials available on such sites.

Disclaimer of Warranty & Limitation of Liability

Optiver provides no guarantee whatever concerning the availability of, access to and use of our website. Optiver does not guarantee that the information and data provided on our website is up to date, accurate or complete. The user accepts that access to and use of our website, as well as the use of the information provided on it, are solely his or her personal responsibility.

Optiver does not in any way guarantee the security of our website and, in particular, cannot rule out the possibility that unauthorized third parties may gain access to details entered by the user on our website or that such entries will be intercepted and/or manipulated.

Optiver accepts no liability whatever for loss, costs, compensation or lost earnings arising directly or indirectly from the provision of our website to the user or the use of our website by the user or third parties, or arising from the access provided by our website to other websites. This exclusion of liability also extends to the management and staff of Optiver.

THIS WEBSITE AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS PROVIDED "AS IS," WITHOUT WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EITHER EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ANY IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, NON-INFRINGEMENT OF THIRD PARTY RIGHTS, FREEDOM FROM VIRUSES OR OTHER HARMFUL CODE, OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. YOU HEREBY ACKNOWLEDGE THAT YOUR USE OF THIS SITE IS AT YOUR SOLE RISK.

OPTIVER AUSTRALIA PRIVACY POLICY

1. Objective

This policy sets out how Optiver Pty Ltd and its related bodies corporate in Australia ("Optiver") collect, hold, use, and disclose personal information, including sensitive information; and how you may seek access to, and correct your personal information. Optiver follows the Australian Privacy Principles and the Privacy Act 1998 (Cth).

Certain employee records such as job application details, qualification records, remuneration details, performance and disciplinary information, and similar, may be exempt from the Privacy Act and from this Privacy Policy.

2. Details

The kinds of personal information Optiver may collect and hold

In the process of conducting its business, Optiver may collect, hold, use, and in some cases, disclose personal information, including sensitive information, relating to its business, contractors, and employees.

Personal information is information or an opinion about an individual who is reasonably identifiable from that information, whether or not the information or opinion is correct, and whether or not it is in a material form, and regardless of its source. Examples of the type of personal information we may collect includes a person's name, address, phone number, and email address.

Sensitive information is a subset of personal information, and is information or an opinion about an individual's racial or ethnic origin; political or religious opinions or associations or affiliations; sexual preferences or practices; memberships; beliefs; criminal record; health; or dietary preferences.

The references to 'personal information' in this policy include 'sensitive information'.

Collecting personal information

Optiver will generally only collect and hold personal information where necessary, and from the relevant individual, unless in Optiver's opinion it is unreasonable or impracticable to do so. Optiver may also be given personal information by third parties in connection with services provided to, or transactions entered into with such third parties.

Where Optiver collects personal information from a source other than the relevant individual, and not in connection with supplying a third party service, it may do so by obtaining information from sources such as publicly available information, previous or current employers, third party referees, government agencies, or pre-employment screening agencies.

The personal information collected by Optiver may include: names, contact information, dates of birth, financial information such as tax file numbers or bank account details, pre-employment screening information, information collected incidentally to the management of operational activities, information about transactions with Optiver or other customers of third party suppliers or contractors, licence and certification information, details of qualifications, and other personal information submitted to Optiver during an application or tender process and other information we think is necessary.

Where Optiver has collected personal or sensitive information, Optiver will take reasonable steps to ensure this information is accurate, up to date, and complete. If an individual elects to not give Optiver their personal information, Optiver may be unable to employ them, or supply services.

Optiver will only collect sensitive personal information if the relevant individual consents to the collection, the collection is reasonably necessary for Optiver's business activities, or in circumstances permitted by the Privacy Act.

Holding personal information

Optiver may hold personal information electronically, or in paper files. Optiver will take all reasonable steps to protect personal information against misuse, interference, loss and unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. Depending on the information and the circumstances this protection may include:

- (a) the use of confidential passwords for purposes of accessing such information on Optiver's internal systems;
- (b) storing hard copies of documents containing personal or sensitive information in secure files created for this purpose;
- (c) imposing confidentiality requirements on our employees;
- (d) conducting reasonable due diligence on any third party service provider's security measures, and compliance with the Privacy Act, especially if they are located offshore; and
- (e) maintaining physical access controls over our premises.

Where Optiver holds personal information that it no longer requires, Optiver will take reasonable steps to destroy or de-identify such information, subject to any law or court order requiring retention.

Use and disclosure of personal information

Personal information is used and disclosed by Optiver so that we can verify your identity, qualifications, or experience; make informed employment decisions; comply with regulatory requirements; operate our business and enter into transactions, in a way that is reasonably secure and efficient; receive services; and make informed business and management decisions.

Personal information collected from individuals or from other third parties about individuals, may only be used or disclosed for the express purpose for which it was collected or a purpose related to that purpose for which the individual would reasonably expect the personal information to be used.

Sensitive information will only be used for a purpose other than the express purpose for which it was collected with the individual's consent or for a purpose directly related to the express purpose for which the individual would reasonably expect the personal information to be used.

In addition to using and disclosing personal information for the primary purpose for which that information was collected, Optiver may also use or disclose personal information:

- (a) to lessen or prevent a serious threat to an individual's life, health or safety, or a serious threat to public health or public safety;
- (b) if Optiver has reason to suspect that unlawful activity or misconduct of a serious nature related to Optiver's business is imminent;
- (c) where the collection, use or disclosure of personal information is reasonably necessary for Optiver to establish, exercise or defend a claim against it;
- (d) where the collection, use or disclosure of personal information is reasonably necessary for the purposes of a confidential alternative dispute resolution process;
- (e) the disclosure is warranted by law or by order of a court or tribunal;
- (f) the disclosure is reasonably necessary for an enforcement related activity by an enforcement body; or
- (g) for another reason permitted by the Privacy Act.

Transborder Dataflows

Optiver may at times be required to disclose personal information to overseas service providers, related bodies, or other entities. Optiver may also hold data on servers situated offshore. The countries where personal information may be used or disclosed include The Netherlands, Hong Kong, Ireland, Canada, and Singapore.

3. Access to, and correction of personal information

The Australian Privacy Principles permit individuals to access personal information that Optiver holds about them. Any individual wishing to access or correct their personal information held by Optiver must contact the Optiver Privacy Officer, or Optiver's Talent Engagement & Experience department.

Access will be provided where this is reasonable and practicable. However, in accordance with the Australian Privacy Principles, Optiver may refuse an access request in certain permitted situations.

4. Complaints

Should an individual wish to make a complaint in relation to Optiver's use, collection, disclosure or management of personal information or sensitive information, or request access or correction, they must contact the 'Privacy Officer' at 39 Hunter Street, Sydney, NSW 2000.

Where a complaint is received, the Privacy Officer will consider the complaint and, within a reasonable time, will decide whether the complaint warrants further investigation. The complainant will be advised by Optiver of the outcome of its investigations within a reasonable time.

Alternatively, you may refer your complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (the "OAIC"). The OAIC's contact details are:

The Office of the Australian Information Commissioner
GPO Box 2999, Canberra ACT 2601, Australia
Phone: 1300 363 992
Website: www.oaic.gov.au

You may request to receive a copy of this Privacy Policy by contacting the Privacy Officer on the details above at 'Complaints'.

This Privacy Policy was last updated on 10 February 2017.

OPTIVER HONG KONG PRIVACY POLICY

1. Objective

Optiver is committed to protecting the privacy, confidentiality and security of any personal data held about individuals with the applicable laws. Nothing in this Privacy Policy Statement (“Policy”) is intended to limit your rights under the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (“Ordinance”).

This Policy sets out the practices followed by Optiver Holding Hong Kong Limited and its related bodies corporate in Hong Kong (“Optiver”, “we”, “us” or “our”), and describes the practice of Optiver’s collection, holding, use, correction, disclosure and transfer of personal data and sensitive information.

2. What is "personal data"?

Personal data means any data relating directly or indirectly to an identifiable individual, for which it is practicable to ascertain the identity of such individual, as defined by the Ordinance.

Personal data includes a person's name, address, ID number, photo, phone number and email address.

3. Use of information and type of personal data held by Optiver

Your personal data is collected by Optiver so that we can perform our business functions. For example, Optiver may collect and/or use your personal data to:

- (a) meet the disclosure, reporting and compliance requirements (including but not limited to tax reporting) under any laws or regulations, codes, guidelines or internal Optiver compliance policies applicable to Optiver in Hong Kong or elsewhere;
- (b) establish, exercise, defend a claim or any other purposes in connection with any claims made by or against Optiver (this includes but not limited to claims involving you, or (where relevant) your employer, company or affiliated entity (as may be applicable)) in respect of any products and/or services provided by us;
- (c) consider or take part in an alternative dispute resolution process;
- (d) enable an actual or proposed assignee of Optiver, or participant or sub-participant of Optiver’s rights in respect of any transaction intended to be the subject of the assignment, participation or sub-participation involving you;
- (e) additionally, in relation to job applicants and employees of Optiver:
 - (i) verify your identity, qualifications or experience;
 - (ii) assess your suitability for the position for which you have applied;
 - (iii) negotiate with and make employment offers to selected applicants;
 - (iv) make informed employment decisions;
 - (v) comply with regulatory requirements (including but not limited to making tax returns);
 - (vi) assess training and development needs;
 - (vii) plan and effect promotions; and

- (viii) facilitate a retirement or provident fund scheme and/or other benefits applicable to employees; and
- (f) any other purposes directly relating to any of the above.

Personal data collected from individuals or from other third parties about individuals, may only be used or disclosed for the express purpose for which it was collected or a purpose related to that purpose for which the individual would reasonably expect the personal data to be used.

Depending on the nature of your dealings with Optiver, the types of information that we may collect include, but are not limited to:

- (a) information that identifies you (such as your name, phone number, fax number, email and postal addresses);
- (b) basic information (such as your date of birth);
- (c) information relates to your financial affairs, associates, business, employment, assets, income, trading activities and/or investment experience;
- (d) information helps Optiver to process applications made by you for particular products and services;
- (e) marketing information (such as your financial background, investment history, information about transactions with Optiver, any information about you which you provide through promotions or customer surveys);
- (f) licence and certification information, details of qualifications;
- (g) if applicable, information about your company's representatives and other connected persons (such as authorised representative name(s) and their contact details); and/or
- (h) any information that is provided to Optiver.

The provision of personal data is voluntary unless otherwise specified by us. However, failure to provide sufficient information may result in Optiver being unable to:

- (a) provide to you the services included in Section 3 of this Policy above;
- (b) (for job applicants) consider your employment application; or
- (c) (for employees) effect promotions, transfers or relocations, or the provision of certain benefits to you.

4. Channels to collect personal data

During the course of our business, we may collect personal data about you in a variety of ways.

Optiver will only collect personal data from you if in Optiver's opinion it is reasonable, practicable and lawful to do so.

In some circumstances, Optiver may collect your personal data from other entities covered by this Policy or third parties (including publicly available information, previous or current employers, third party referees, government agencies or pre-employment screening agencies). When it does so, it will ensure that it acts in accordance with relevant privacy laws and this Policy.

“Cookies” are data files stored on your electronic devices (such as your computer or mobile phone) after you access certain websites. Cookies are primarily used to identify visitors when they return to a site, so that certain information already provided by the visitor to a site is not required to be provided again. Cookies are also used to gather data on which areas of a site are visited frequently and which are not. Keeping data on which areas of a site are most popular allows a site operator to better plan and enhance the site. By accessing any Optiver website, you acknowledge that you have been informed of this practice and authorise Optiver to use any information collected through our use of cookies in connection with the purpose set out under Section 3 of this Policy. We acknowledge that some users may wish to disable cookies. This can be done by changing your web browser settings but may result in more limited functionality. To find out more about cookies, please contact us.

5. Disclosure of personal data

In providing you the information or services you request, Optiver may disclose your personal data to:

- (a) any subsidiary, holding company, associated company or affiliate, or any entity controlled by or under common control with Optiver;
- (b) any affiliate, agent, contractor or other service provider who provides administrative, compliance, telecommunications, computer, other technological, payment, screening, data processing or storage, cloud computing or other services to us and/or our affiliates in connection with the operation of our respective businesses;
- (c) any person under a duty of confidentiality to Optiver, such as a professional adviser or another person that has undertaken to keep such data confidential;
- (d) any bank, intermediary or regulatory authority involved in sending or receiving any payment or instruction to or from or in connection with you;
- (e) any actual or proposed assignee, transferee, participant or sub-participant of Optiver’s rights or business; and
- (f) any person to whom Optiver is under an obligation to make disclosure under the requirements of any law, rules, regulations or directive binding on us and/or our affiliates, or under and for the purposes of any codes of practice or guidelines issued by or responding to requests made to us and/or our affiliates by regulatory or other authorities, or for the purposes of any legal or administrative proceedings in which we and/or our affiliates are involved;
- (g) additionally, in relation to Optiver’s employees, any relevant insurers, bankers, provident fund managers and medical practitioners, in connection with services requested and/or provided in relation to employees; and
- (h) any service provider whom Optiver may appoint or to whom Optiver may delegate its obligation to in connection with its business operation.

each a “Transferee”.

Optiver will not provide a reference concerning an employee or former employee to a third party without the employee’s prescribed consent.

If Optiver provides your personal data to such a Transferee, Optiver requires the Transferee to protect your personal data in the same way Optiver does.

For the purposes set out under Section 3 of this Policy, we may transfer, disclose otherwise make available your personal data to persons set out in this Section 5 situated in overseas jurisdictions, including (without limitation) Australia, the Netherlands, Taiwan and Mainland China, where there may not be in place data protection laws which are substantially similar to, or serve the same purposes as, the Ordinance. That means your personal data may not be protected to the same or similar level in Hong Kong.

Under paragraph 3.11.5 and 3.11.6 of the Code of Practice on Human Resource Management issued by the Office of the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data, Optiver may transfer your employment-related personal data to a related office or a third party within or outside Hong Kong. In any event, such a transfer is for a purpose directly related to your employment and the data transferred will not be excessive in relation to that purpose.

Optiver may also disclose your personal data to other third parties where it is required or permitted to under any applicable law or by order of a court or tribunal.

6. Security

Optiver will take all reasonable steps to protect personal data against misuse, interference, accidental loss, unauthorised access, destruction, unlawful process, unlawful modification or unauthorised disclosure.

Depending on the type of personal data and the circumstances, this protection may include:

- (a) the use of confidential passwords for purposes of accessing such information on Optiver's network or wiki;
- (b) hard copies of documents containing personal or sensitive information are kept in secure files created for this purpose;
- (c) imposing confidentiality duties and requirements on our employees; and/or
- (d) control of access to our building.

Where Optiver holds personal data that it no longer requires, Optiver will take reasonable steps to destroy or de-identify such information, so long as the information is not required to be kept by law or court order.

However, Optiver cannot ensure the security and confidentiality of internet communications, which may not be secured by encryption. As a result, all information transmitted via the Internet (including via email) is at your own risk.

Privacy Officer

The Privacy Officer is the Compliance Manager, whose details are set out below. Optiver may in its absolute discretion appoint a different Privacy Officer as and when it sees fit.

7. Access to personal data and correction

You may do the following in respect of your personal data:

- (a) ascertain whether Optiver holds personal data about you;
- (b) access your personal data;
- (c) require Optiver to correct your personal data which is inaccurate; and/or
- (d) find out Optiver's policies and practices in relation to your personal data.

When Optiver receives a data access request from you, whether it holds the requested data or not, it will respond in writing within 40 calendar days after receiving your data access request. However, Optiver may refuse to comply with your data access request in certain situations, which include without limitation to:

- (a) Optiver is not supplied with sufficient information to identify you;
- (b) Optiver cannot comply with the request without disclosing the personal data of a third party;

- (c) where compliance with the request is for the time being prohibited under the Ordinance or any other ordinance;
- (d) the data access request follows two or more similar requests, and it is unreasonable for Optiver to comply with the request in the circumstances; or
- (e) another party controls the use of the requested data in a way that prohibits Optiver from complying with the data access request.

Should you wish to access your personal data held by Optiver and/or seek correction of your personal data, please contact our Privacy Officer, Amy Hui on +(852) 3607 8777, by email at amy.hui@optiver.com.au or by post to 25/F, 33 Des Voeux Road Central, Hong Kong, your Optiver business contact or for Optiver's employees, the Human Resources Department.

Access will be provided where this is reasonable and practicable, however Optiver may refuse the access requested in accordance with the Ordinance.

Even if you do not submit such a request, if we are satisfied that, having regard to the reasons for which we hold your personal data, that personal data is inaccurate, incomplete, out-of-date, irrelevant or misleading, we may take reasonable steps to correct that information.

In accordance with the Ordinance, Optiver has the right to charge a reasonable fee for the processing of any request to access personal data.

8. Retention of personal data

Your personal data will not be kept longer than required.

Please note that Optiver may retain personal data relating to:

- unsuccessful applicants up to a period of two years (from the date of rejection); and
- an employee up to a period of seven years (after an employee has left Optiver).

Optiver may, at its discretion, retain personal data for longer than these periods where it considers it necessary or desirable to do so to meet its legal or regulatory obligations,

9. Changes to this Policy

From time to time, Optiver may change this Policy to accommodate the new legal or regulatory requirements, industry practices or for other purposes. We will provide notice to you if these changes are material and, where required by applicable law, we will obtain your consent.

10. Contact us

Should you:

- (a) have any queries or require further information regarding this Policy or any other steps Optiver has taken to protect your personal data or privacy; or
- (b) have any concerns or wish to make a complaint in relation to Optiver's use, collection, disclosure or management of your personal data, please contact our Privacy Officer, Amy Hui at +(852) 3607 8777, by email at amy.hui@optiver.com.au or by post to 25/F, 33 Des Voeux Road Central, Hong Kong.

Where a complaint is received, the Privacy Officer will consider the complaint and, within a reasonable time, will decide whether the complaint warrants further investigation. The complainant will be advised by Optiver of the outcome of its investigations within a reasonable time.

This Privacy Policy Statement was last updated on 10 February 2017.
